COL. MITCHELL

We have all heard about Colonel Mitchell, but we'll bet dollars to doughnuts that few people knew that such a person as Colonel Mitchell existed before the recent controversy started regarding the Air Service or his recent court martial. How many people realize that the man which an army court martial sentenced to five years' imprisonment from the army without pay or allowances has been a leader in everything he has undertaken? Long before aeronautics occupied the place in the public eye that it does today "Billy" Mitchell was well known in every thing that he undertook. His life has not been devoted to theory but to action. When the development of aeronautics reached an important point in the nation's defense "Billy" Mitchell was one of the first to recognize it and for all his efforts he has received a five year sentence. The army court which sentenced him remarked in its findings that it could not bring itself to entirely dismiss a man from the service who won the Congressional medal of honor—translated we believed that court meant to say, "We cannot bring ourselves to dismiss from the service a man who is so correct in his statements—a man who has opened the nation's eyes—may be not to action but at least to thinking—but because the Articles of War and a custom of the service dictates, we find him guilty and sentence him to five years without rank or pay—like the man who discharged his valet because he woke him up to tell him that the roof was burning over his head."

The introduction to Mitchell's "Winged Defense" tells us just a little about this man who performed his duty in spite of the consequence or hardships it has brought him. A portion of the introduction states:

"In the spring of 1898 he listened while the Senate of which his father was a member, declared war against Spain. Although only eighteen years of age he returned home and enlisted in the First Wisconsin Infantry."

"In Cuba he served on the staff of General Fitzhugh Lee, and in the Philippine insurrection in 1899 with General MacArthur. In 1901-1903 he was given the task of completing the telegraph lines in Alaska. Thereafter he devoted himself to developing the Army's first radio and automobile equipment. And in 1904 when only twenty-four years of age, he became an instructor in the Staff College at Leavenworth. And without he contrived to become a distinguished graduate of the Army College of the Line and of the Army Staff (Continued on Page 8)

CHICAGO FINDS MOTOR BUS IS BEST ADAPTED FOR TRAFFIC

Four Year Trial in Chicago Has Proven The Worth of The Motor Bus

By ROBERT SHAW
Reprinted from The Oakland Post-Enquirer by special permission. (Mr. Shaw was sent by The Oakland Post-Enquirer to important cities of the east and middle west where he made a thorough study of the best transportation services.)

The Remarkable Success of the Motor Bus System in Chicago

Motor bus transportation on a large scale in Chicago is about four years old. Its success is undoubted. The Chicago Motor Coach company is the principal operator of buses. It has at present in daily operation about 450 large buses, covering a route mileage of 125 m. l. This one company handles about 6 per cent of all passenger traffic in Chicago. It is now serving 175,000 people each day. It will handle this year, according to the estimate of the conservative Illinois commerce commission, 66,000,000 passengers. The elevated lines in Chicago handle about 220,000,000 passengers a year; the surface lines handle about 850,000,000 passengers a year. The motor bus fare in Chicago is 10 cents, with transfer privilege to other bus lines. Surface car fare (Continued on Page 8)

Garbage Trucks Ruining Streets States Protest

The Richmond Land company, through its secretary, George Wall, last night filed a protest with the city council against the use of Filbert street and Gertrude avenue in North Richmond by garbage wagons.

According to the protest the heavy garbage trucks are ruining the streets by the heavy traffic.

In a discussion which followed, City Manager J. A. McVittie and City Engineer E. A. Hoffman, pointed out that the city had expended several hundred dollars on the streets before they were used for the garbage trucks so that the trucks could pass over them. Previous to this improvement, they stated, it was impossible to use the streets.

The matter was placed in the hands of City Manager McVittie for adjustment.

Ferry to Replace Wrecked Bridge

The Alameda County Board of Supervisors today recommended the establishment of a ferry service to take care of the traffic problem created by the wrecking of the Webster street bridge. The supervisors were faced with the evidence that all other solutions would mean months of delay.

A resolution presented by Supervisor W. J. Hamilton requests the railroad commission to grant permit to Harry E. Speas and Frank Devlin, of the Golden Gate Ferry company to operate a combination automobile and passenger ferry with slips adjacent to Webster street in both Oakland and Alameda.

Alameda residents, represented by E. C. Hickok, C. L. Traver, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Councilman E. R. Neils declared that after considering the length of time it would take to complete any sort of bridge they would approve the ferry system. Redman Staats then introduced resolutions providing for removal of the wrecked bridge and, reparation of plans for a future bridge.

GAS PUMP PERMIT
An application presented to the city council last night by John Creely asking permission to construct a visible gasoline pump on the curbing at Forty-seventh street and Potrero Avenue was last night referred to A. E. Hoffman, superintendent of streets and the street committee of the council for one week.

Hold Garland, Head of Love Cult, as Father Of Colony Girl's Baby

Charles Garland, eccentric Massachusetts millionaire, was arrested on charge of adultery at his April Farm colony near Allentown, Pa., and released on $1,000 bail. It is alleged that Garland and Miss Bettina Hovey, former New York newspaper woman, are the parents of a child born on the farm, who died three months later and whose death is being investigated. At the time the coroner permitted the issuance of a certificate of death, due to natural causes, Garland has sought to people his colony with other rebels against existing social conditions.

NEW TAX BILL FACING BATTLE IN THE SENATE

By FRASER EDWARDS
(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The new tax bill faces a long, hard fight in the Senate despite the "non-partisan" report of the Senate finance committee on Saturday.

Sharp criticism against certain features of the measure, which broke out on the Senate floor today, foreshadowed the fight that is to be made against the bill by progressive Republicans and some of the Democrats.

While it appears that Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the Senate finance committee, and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the committee, can muster votes to force the bill through the Senate, the measure is certain to meet stubborn opposition when it reaches conference with the House.

House opposition will be directed against the repeal of the estate tax and the cut in the intermediate surtax rates.

The House took great pride in the "non-partisan" bill which it sent to the Senate. Both Republican and Democratic leaders were determined that the House should (Continued on Page 6).

HALL ATTENDS MEETING
Southern Pacific Asks That it Be Granted Same Fares as Key System

The Railroad commission has refused the petition of the city of Richmond filed by City Attorney D. J. Hall asking that the street car fare between Oakland and Richmond be cut from three fares to one fare. Word that the commission had refused the petition was received yesterday morning by Hall but he states this decision is not going to be taken as final as the fight will continue when the hearing comes up in the near future to fix a permanent rate.

The Central Labor Council of Alameda county last night sent a letter to the Richmond City Council in behalf of Carman's Union No. 132. This letter pointed out that the recent increase in pay and eight hour day granted to the platform men was absolutely necessary and that the increase in fare granted by the Railroad commission was necessary to meet the increase in operation.

The letter asked that the decision of the Railroad Commission be concurred in so that the "Com" (Continued on Page 8)

PEGGY BATES HAS RETURNED TO HER HOME

After an all morning search was conducted for Miss Peggy Bates, 13, talented dancer, she returned to her home early Monday morning, after spending a day at the home of a friend, Maxine Blair, at San Francisco. Peggy was reported by her mother, Mrs. Alto Bates head of the Bates sanatorium of Berkeley, as missing after she had left her home on Sunday night with her dancing clothes and $4 in change.

Peggy admitted that she had merely crossed the bay and went to a movie show, spending the night at the home of Maxine Blair. Monday morning she picked up a paper and saw the featured article that she was reported missing. She immediately returned home.

A search was being conducted in the bay regions by Irwin Cassidy, prominent local boy, who is Miss Bates' dancing partner. Accompanied by Lewis Bates, the girl's brother, young Cassidy spent all Sunday night and part of Monday, in a vain search for his partner.

Miss Bates is well known here, as she was one of the featured dancers on the program of the Elk's charity show here last month.

Cassidy and Miss Bates are known in bay cities as two of the most talented dancers about the east bay regions.

Bandits Rob Two Banks In Chicago

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Two hold-ups today netted Chicago bandits more than $17,000. The bandits escaped.

The first was that of Franklin Park State bank in which four masked men, each holding two revolvers, locked six employees in the vault and obtained $14,800. The cashier, William H. Schewo, escaped from the "iron ring" and set off an alarm in the suburb, but before the Vigilante committee could assemble the bandits had completed their job.

A short time later five armed men held up the Hotel Hayes, near the University of Chicago and obtained $2,500 in cash.

Widening of San Pablo Avenue Is To Be Taken Up

Plans for the paving of San Pablo Avenue from San Pablo to the Alameda county line are to be discussed at a meeting of county, San Pablo, Richmond, and El Cerrito officials within a short time according to plans made last night at a session of the city council.

Councilman E. J. Garrard opened the question on the feasibility of joining with the county and other cities in this section in an attempt to have San Pablo Avenue paved to its full width. He pointed out that an increased width of San Pablo Avenue was a crying need at the present time due to the heavy traffic it is forced to carry.

City Manager J. A. McVittie was instructed by the council to devise ways and means whereby a meeting could be held by all the interested parties so that the program for the widening of the street could be pushed immediately.

City Engineer E. A. Hoffman stated that plans had been under (Continued on Page 8)

Flexible Glass New Invention London Reports

It weighs about half as much as ordinary glass. The rods can be sharply bent or dropped on the floor without being damaged. It is non-inflammable and transmits ultra-violet rays.

Great demand for this new material is anticipated for street car and the buses and other vehicles.

HOUSE ALLOWS EXPENSE TO THE LEAGUE MEET

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—By a vote of 359 to 1, the House today passed a joint resolution appropriating $50,000 for an American mission to attend the preliminary arms reduction program at Geneva next month.

The only dissenting vote was cast by Representative Connery, Democrat, of Massachusetts. An amendment by Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, providing that the American mission be instructed to urge outlawing of nations that wage wars of aggression was ruled out of order on the ground that it was not germane to the subject matter of the proposed conference and that it might embarrass the President.

An amendment by Victor Berger, Socialist, of Wisconsin, directing the mission to urge inclusion of the treaty of Versailles for discussion in the agenda was also ruled out of order.

THE VOICE FROM THE WATCH TOWERS

The few democratic senators who were bent on making the tax reduction bill something different have been hearing from home. They have been signalled from the democratic watch towers that the people are impatient of the juggling which has been going on, and are disposed to resent delay in the enactment of the measure. The obstructionists are told that however sound and reasonable their substitute bill may be, what the people want is early action, a completed law effective by March 15.

The voters are not greatly interested in the total of the reductions that will be effected—whether it shall be $350,000,000 or $500,000,000; whether the maximum surtax rate shall be 20 per cent or 25 per cent; whether the law shall contain a publicity clause or not; whether any of the amendments proposed by the fixers shall be included or not. They want only an early enactment and as little of the folly and partisan play as possible that obstructed and mutilated the Mellon bill in 1924.

The democratic senators are evincing a disposition to heed the warning sounded to them from the watch towers, so that we may expect an early thought reluctant withdrawal of the opposition that has been offered the bill as it was sent from the house.—Republican.

TAXATION RIGHTS FOR CHINA

China at least is to be allowed to regulate her own customs—after a decent interval. The conference of powers that has been sitting on that subject in Peking has graciously agreed that China may have unrestricted tariff rights beginning January 1, 1926.

There is nothing precipitate, certainly, about such action. The powers pledged themselves to it in the Washington arms conference four years ago, and were expected to take action long before this.

China incidentally agrees to abolish the "likin," or special tax on goods in inland transit, but insists that the two are not connected. That will help a little to soothe the feelings of foreigners to whom the idea of a Chinese import tax is a bitter pill. The Christian powers somehow seem to think it is very wicked for China to tax their goods and entrance into the country, as they tax China's.

Now the powers are arguing about how China will spend her new income.

With a tariff law providing real revenue, the Chinese government may be able to give a better mitigation of a government. It may not use all the tariff money wisely; but possibly that is nobody else's business.

An eastern authority says that in a few years there will be no more cooking and everybody will be eating in restaurants. This sounds to us like propaganda.

If the price keeps on going up it won't be long until it will be a sign of plutocracy to have coal dust on your check.

MAKING THE IDLERS WORK

How would you like to live in a colony where someone else did all the work? Where you never had to lift a finger to get your food and clothing? Where you idled your time away the whole life-long day?

I fancy that you think that would be just the thing!

But suppose it were the other way round. Suppose it was you who did all the work while the family across the street did nothing at all. Suppose they were always going off for a picnic while you never got through your work in time for the fun. You wouldn't care much for that arrangement, would you?

That is just what the hard-working people in the Jamestown colony of old Virginia were quarreling about when Sir Thomas Dale took a hand in affairs.

This all happened years before our nation was really a nation at all, and when the very first of the brave colonists had settled in Virginia.

They thought that it would be a fine idea for them to own everything in common. The land wasn't to belong to any one person. Every man was to help plough and plant. No one would be poor, no one rich.

All the food was to be owned in common. The thing we call "private ownership" was to be unknown.

Well, it was a beautiful plan. But it didn't work. There were too many of the colonists who were lazy and who never intended to enter into the plan for the good of everybody. They never worked. And consequently some of their neighbors never had time to play. They were doing the work that the shiftless ones should have done.

Naturally, there was a great deal of unhappiness and discontent in the colony.

Then along came Sir Thomas Dale from England and for a good many years he was chief officer of the colony. He put a stop to the common ownership of everything in the village. He decreed that a certain amount of everything a man raised should go into the common granary, and that all above that amount should belong to the man himself. So, if a colonist wanted to save something and gather a little wealth for himself and his family, so that he could rest in his old age, all he had to do was to work hard and be thrifty.

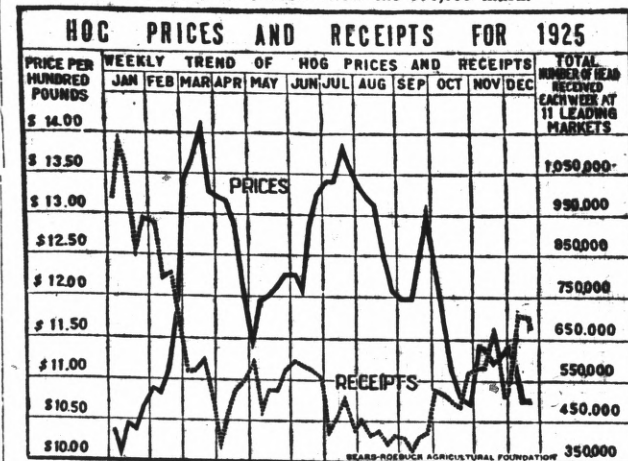

The colony then thrived. It was a good thing to make each man responsible for his own dinner.

HOG PRICES FOR 1925 GIVE FARMERS PROFITABLE YEAR

Hog prices in 1925, according to market reports obtained by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation, have been the highest since 1920 and the number of hogs slaughtered nearly 20 per cent less than in 1924 and 1923, when production was at a record level. With prices approximately 50 per cent higher this year than last year, hog producers have had an especially profitable season. The range of prices has run from $10.00 to almost $14.50 per hundred pounds, the peaks being reached in March, July and September.

Domestic consumption demand has been keen throughout the year in spite of higher retail prices for pork products. Exports have been the smallest in a number of years.

The ratio between prices of hogs and corn prices turned favorably for the feeder last spring and is now the best that it has been since 1922. Last spring's pig crop in the corn belt, which is now coming on the market, was estimated to be 10.6 per cent less than the pig crop of the spring of 1924. This indicates that rather high prices are likely to be maintained during most of the 1926 season, unless a very large crop of hogs is produced and pushed rapidly into the markets. Excepting the months of January and February, receipts at the eleven leading markets of the country, have gone below the 675,000 level and from June to October have been below the 550,000 mark.

Synopsis

Prince Michael Veredoff, wealthy Russian philanthropist in Paris, sick of his useless life, becomes interested in Colette, an unworshiped girl, while his innocent young brother, Paul, is roused for revenge by Dolores, one of Michael's cast-offs. Colette justifies Michael's faith in her honesty by returning the priceless Veredoff emerald, which she found; but she has thereby incurred the rage of her Apache brother-in-law, Emile, who tracks her.

"It's Emile," Colette went on. "Oh, how did he trace me here and what is going to happen? I'm afraid, M'ieu, I'm afraid!" She trembled violently, and Michael put his arm around her.

"Don't be alarmed. We will clip Emile's wings in a very short while."

"You don't know him," she cried. "He stops at nothing! I must get home, though, to see if he has taken Billy away."

"Then I will go with you. There is my car driving up now. But, first let me telephone for a moment. Bye the bye, what is your address?"

Colette gave it to him, and he went out for a few minutes.

"All ready?" he asked on his return. "Then let us go!"

Emile was not to be seen as they walked out to the car. Probably lurking in the shadows somewhere, Colette thought, and he undoubtedly would follow her home. As long as Michael was with her she felt safe, but what would happen after her new friend had left?

When they arrived at her apartment, Colette dismissed the woman who had been watching Billy.

"One moment, Monsieur. It is a rather strange proceeding for an obviously worthless scamp like you to take a four-year old child out into the streets of Paris at midnight! This girl, who has raised him and fed him, supported and mothered him, has a perfect right to question your intentions."

Emile, with an eelish squirm, sidled out of Michael's grasp. "Who the devil may you be, M'sieu, to interfere between a father and his child?"

"My identity is of no concern to you, unless you force me to make it so, you surly brute. Enough for you to know that I am here to protect Colette—and that I know you tried to steal my emerald!"

Emile was the perfect picture of a cornered rat, and, rattled, he took his defense in momentary stalling—while one hand moved slyly toward the knife hilt in his sash belt and his knees flexed for a spring.

"What's your game, anyway, you damned aristocrat! Your kind don't pick up with poor working girls for nothing—but I suppose you want, and she's—jerking his head toward Colette, who was sitting enough to pay the usual price."

Michael's flailing cane was too late to stop the flash of Emile's knife in the air—too late to arrest the Apache's forward leap. But it did throw Emile off balance just enough to make the deadly blade slice harmlessly past its intended mark in Michael's throat.

Another luscious swish of the cane and the knife dropped to the floor out of Emile's paralyzed hand. But Emile was not done; casting himself agilely upon the floor on his unstricken hand, he shot one foot toward the point of Michael's chin—the deadly trick boxing kick of the Apaches.

Michael escaped that lethal stroke by an even narrower margin than he had the knife.

He ducked—but not enough to entirely avoid the kick, which struck him a glancing blow that sent him staggering away. Swift as thought Emile was on his feet with the knife in his hand again—

Colette caught and clung to his arm and her pluck saved Michael's life. Before the dursing Emile could shake her off, Michael's head cleared; he leaped forward and crashed his fist against Emile's jaw, knocking him down and out.

Even as Emile fell, Colette snatched the knife from his hand and cowed away with it—Emile would not get it again, she was resolved.

"Colette," Michael panted, "the shade on that middle window—raise and lower it slowly, twice—please!"

Colette did so in wonderment, while Michael stood guard over the prostrate Emile. The latter's vicious wit returned simultaneously with his senses; rolling over, he sat up, pretending to be dazed and badly hurt, then without warning launched himself savagely at Michael's knees and bore him to the floor.

Tire Repairing Cold Cash In Your Pocket

There are two ways to take care of a tire injury. One way is to put a blowout patch in the tire and let it stay there.

The other way—and the only good way—is to use the blow-out patch only as a temporary repair. At the first opportunity the tire should be taken to a competent and able vulcanizer for permanent repair. This means saving thousands of miles of the tire's life.

Four Involved In Fight Over Beautiful Girl!

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 18.—A knife fight over a pretty Mexican girl, resulted in placing two men in the hospital and two men in the Pittsburgh city jail. The row started Sunday night and in the course of the fight Joseph Ortega received dangerous stomach wounds and T. Tiscerano received severe cuts about the neck. Felix Solosazano and Leo Morales were booked by the arresting officer, Patrolman Paul Patterson, on a charge of disturbing the peace. Police declare that a more serious charge would undoubtedly be booked against Solosazano, the alleged knife wielder.

According to the police account, a row occurred in a Mexican dance hall over a girl and the two combatants rushed into the street. Teller knocked Solosazano unconscious, the police aver and when he came to his senses, he drew a knife and attacked Teller. Ortega attempted to separate the two men and was wounded by the knife. His wounds were considered serious and he was rushed to the county hospital. Tiscerano was taken home.

Take to Bike Riding, Girls, to Acquire Fashionable Boyish Form

KATHLEEN KEY
MGM. PLAYER

Bicycle riding is the latest fad Hollywood has instituted for those desiring slenderness. Kathleen Key, movie actress first to sponsor this latest fad who is shown here exercising on her trusty bike in the gym of her home before going to bed, says that this form of exercise takes off unnecessary fatty tissue from hips, thighs and abdomen and gives you the straight boyish lines so fashionable today.

If you can't go bicycle riding outdoors, says Kathleen, the next best thing is to install a bike in your home, preferably in the gym, and take doses of it at least once a day.

"Bicycle riding hardens the muscles of the thighs and abdomen and is one of the best exercises known for acquiring and maintaining the fashionable slender boyish form," continues Miss Key, who appears in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Ben Hur." "Many girls who haven't the use of bicycles simulate this form of exercise by lying fat on their backs and rotating their legs in the bicycle riding movement. This not only hardens the muscles around the waist, but quickly dispels the fat on the hips and abdomen, which Fashion so decidedly taboos today."

An Ultra-Modern Woman In Picture At the Richmond

One of those ultra-modern women who hates housework and likes to preach about the freedom of her sex took possession of the screen at the Richmond theatre yesterday when First National opened its current engagement of "The Talker."

She silences a "hen-pecked" husband and has her entire neighborhood thoroughly cowed, but suddenly her young and unsophisticated sister disappears. It appears the child has adopted her views and eloped with one of the greatest, yet most fascinating, rogues of the community—a man who happens already to be married.

Thus the "talker" reaps her just reward and the tensely dramatic action of rescuing the girl gets under way.

It is a human story—this picture—and its characters might easily have been drawn from the life of almost any community.

Anna Q. Nilsson, as the wife, and Lewis S. Stone in the role of the husband give to their characterizations a human touch that might, indeed, be life itself.

Sam E. Rock, Inc., who produced the picture, has given it an imposing supporting cast. Shirley Mason, as the runaway little sister; Ian Keith, Tully Marshall and others combine to make the acting throughout as good, if not better, than anything that we have witnessed on the screen in some time.

Other features on the same program include "The Wrestler," an Earle Fox comedy; "Topics of the Day"; "Aesop's Fables."

BODY SENT TO STOCKTON FOR FINAL RITES

"SUNDOWN" PLEASING AT CALIFORNIA

Last night the California theatre was the scene of the unfolding of a great human document. Something that means more to Americans than they will probably ever appreciate.

The California audience witnessed the initial showing of "Sundown," the First National production; a poetic and dramatic study of the passing of the old West, done in the best manner of Hollywood.

"Sundown," so aptly titled, is unforgettable. Aside from its breath-taking spectacles of vast herds of surging cattle stretching beyond the horizon, it touches a tender period of our national history. In terms of heartaches and smiles, suffering and courage, "Sundown" transcribes up the celestial monument to the knights of the West—the fast-vanishing cattlemen—pioneers who blazed a glorious trail of civilization.

Bessie Love, wistful and diminutive, plays the frail little homesteader to her greater glory. She has never done anything better, and it will win for this talented little lady a host of new admirers.

Hobart Bosworth, always a man's man, vigorous, robust, and dominating every scene he is in, equals his finest screen characterizations. Bosworth, in the role of John Brent, becomes in "Sundown" the very reincarnation of cattlemen. The very bigness of "Sundown" seems to fit his predominating personality.

Roy Stewart, as Brent's son, and later falling in love with the "nester's" daughter, is in his proper sphere. Stewart is another type of man of whom one always thinks as being surrounded by sagebrush and desert.

Charlie Murray, heretofore beloved as one of Filmdom's most resourceful comedians, makes his debut as a clown of more tragic promise. Movie fans who see "Sundown" will gaze upon a new Murray, more human, lovable, and with an underlying pathos they little suspected, but which is destined to raise Murray to long-lasting fame.

Other features include "Spotlight," a Lize Conley comedy; "Snapshots," a review novelty; "Topics of the Day," Larry Canelo at the organ.

Medler reported that the bus was about to turn into Roosevelt avenue when it skidded about 60 feet and crashed into Giberson's car. Giberson was uninjured.

Mrs. Helen Cortagossio, 251 Fifth street was badly cut in the hip and received an abrasion of the forehead when the car in which she was riding with her husband, E. Cortagossio, collided with a parked car owned by Grover Milnes of 415 Thirteenth street, on Sunday.

The accident happened at Tenth and Barrett avenue. The windshield of the Cortagossio car was shattered and the rear of Milnes car was badly damaged. Mrs. Cortagossio was taken to the Abbott Emergency hospital. Her injuries are not serious.

Revival Meet Well Attended

Despite the rain a large crowd turned out to attend the first of a series of revival meetings opened here Sunday at the Community Methodist church. Enthusiasm and religious spirit were at a high pitch among the large crowd that attended the meetings and a genuine note of enthusiasm was sustained throughout the evening.

Rev. R. L. Jackson, noted evangelist, who is now pastor of the Fitzgerald Memorial Methodist church in San Francisco, preaching as his subject, "The Master has come and is calling for you." ## BARLEY CROP GAINS 40,000,000 BUSHEL IN THE YIELD OF 1925

The 1925 barley crop of 227,000,000 bushels was one of the largest ever produced, states the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation in its survey of crop conditions. It exceeded the 1924 production by nearly 40,000,000 bushels and the five-year average by 45,000,000 bushels. This makes the 1925 crop approximately 25 per cent larger than the 1924 crop. California was responsible for much of the increase this year. Last year the California crop approached a failure. This year conditions were reversed. More than 20,000,000 bushels of barley have already been exported which was fully as much as was shipped out of the United States in 1924. Receipts have been low for most of the current year, rising sharply in August and September and declining again in October and November. Prices have stayed relatively high except in the two months of heavy receipts. On the whole, however, prices have been much lower than they were last year because of the large increase in the domestic as well as in the European crop. Clearances have declined sharply since early November and foreign trade has been rather sluggish because of the larger supplies of European barley in foreign markets. California is the leading barley producing state. Russia normally is quite a competitor in barley.

it to pull all its floating equipment up to the shops, which will soon be ready for operation. The Western States Gas and Electric company, following arrangements made with the bridge company by Manager George N. Rooker has run its wires to the site, the pole line following a new highway being constructed by the contracting company. City aid was given in grading the extension of Richmond avenue.

Bridge company officials have said that the Richmond inner harbor if developed as it should be by the citizens, will be one of the biggest payroll bringing projects of its kind in the west and they said the inner portion in the lee of the Nicholl hills is of especial importance because it is so sheltered that it forms a most desirable haven for shipping and manufacturing.

The Duncan-Harrelson company, which has a six-acre site on the harbor, has erected a pile driver and is at work improving its site to be used as headquarters by this firm. William Harrelson, one of the firm members is a San Francisco supervisor.

The Richmond industrial commission is said to have other enterprises in line for harbor location. That organization professes not to know when the Enterprise Foundry company will begin construction on the 21 acres it has purchased on the harbor, but it has said improvements will start there this year.

ing equal—will make this country master of the air, just as England is mistress of the seas. Its development is expected to mark a great improvement in strategy as did the first use of planes for reconnoitering purposes in warfare.

Briefly, it is a complete transmitting and receiving radio set, no larger than a suitcase, which has been brought to such a high point of efficiency that an officer can sit in a plane with multiple motors roaring and carry on conversations with planes to left and right of him, to the admiral of the fleet safe in his armored ship beneath him, or to a general of armies 100 miles away.

It means that when a division of planes take the air it will be as a co-ordinated whole, under the direct command of one man, who if need be can fly 1000 feet above his aerial army and order the various squadrons of bombers, pursuit, attack and observation planes to maneuver as the opportunity presents itself, just as the old wagon armies have been directed by courier and telegraph on the ground.

The perfection of such a device has been the dream of aerial strategists since that gray dawn in 1918, when Colonel—then—General—William Mitchell took into the air 350 airplanes at the battle of St. Mihiel, the greatest aerial army the world ever saw.

A LITTLE Polish boy, without telling his parents, changed his name the first day in an American school. He had a fine Polish name, but he was in America, in a new world, and he wanted a name that would symbolize his great change.

European women, upon coming to America, quickly revolutionize the manner of things they buy for their tables and their homes. An authority has estimated that foreign-born women ask for goods by their advertised names within two weeks after they have begun housekeeping in America.

They are quick to sense that in the new world the good things are advertised, and that unknown goods in unknown stores are likely to be of unsatisfactory quality.

As the European woman quickly learns, American advertising is for the buyer's protection.

"An advertised product bears a proud name." It has a reputation to uphold

$45,000 Taken In Roseville Holdup

the town of Verona. For three miles the duel continued with the officers firing as fast as possible and the bandits as fast as they could reload.
About four miles south of Verona the bandits' car drew up to the side of the road and three of its occupants fell out of the car and were thrown unconscious upon the highway. Inside the car "Whitey," the fourth bandit lay dead. The loot of the Roseville bank was taken to Sacramento and the bandits were taken there also.
The bandits were apparently aware that a large amount of money was on hand in the bank to cover pay of workmen in the Roseville railroad yards. The bulk of their loot came from the safe. They took $45,000 in currency.
Then they dashed out to the waiting car and the flight began. All of the bandits were heavily armed with big caliber army revolvers which they had stolen in Lodi the week previous.

New Tax Bill Facing Battle In the Senate

regain its lost prestige as the body of Congress in which revenue legislation should originate. They declare that they are tired of having the Senate rewrite their revenue legislation.

The Senate is likewise jealous of its prerogatives and there were indications today that the Senate conferences would not yield without a bitter struggle.

Democratic opposition will be led by Senator King of Utah, the only Democrat to vote against the repeal of the inheritance tax. He denounced the proposal as "vicious."

Senators Harrison and Heflin, both Democrats, attacked the bill dwelling upon conditions in the midwestern agricultural belt. Harrison also attacked the tariff law, as a measure which made the farmers "pay tribute to the tariff barons" on nearly everything they purchase.

"I want to suggest before the senator goes further that while the senator from Mississippi brings in a fearful indictment, I know the American farmer will be consoled when he learns that Congress has united to repeal the inheritance tax and reduce the surtax," ironically said Borah.

The compromise tax bill agreed upon by Republicans and Democrats in the Senate contains the following provisions:

1. Normal rates of 1-2 per cent on the first $4,000 of income, 3 per cent on incomes between $4,000 and $8,000 and 5 per cent over $8,000.
2. Exemptions of $1,500 for single persons and $3,500 for married couples, with a 25 per cent reduction on the total tax of all earned incomes under $20,000.
3. Surtaxes on a progressive scale, starting at 1 per cent on $10,000 with a maximum of 20 per cent beginning at $100,000. The rates on incomes between $26,000 and $60,000 were reduced by the senate committee from those adopted by the house, with resultant reductions on all incomes over $26,000.
4. Repeal of all estate, inheritance and gift taxes, effective in passage of the bill, and adoption of the 1921 rates for estates of persons already dead, which must be paid during the next five years. These 1921 rates grant an exemption of $50,000 and carry a minimum rate of 25 per cent at $5,000,000. The senate committee repealed the estate and inheritance taxes, after the house had retained them with a provision returning most of the income to the States.
5. Repeal of the capital stock tax, but increase of the corporation tax from 12-1-2 to 13-1-2 per cent, a senate committee change which allows a $3,500,000 greater reduction to corporations than the house granted.
6. Repeal of income tax publicity.

Berlins Enjoying The Gay Life In British Capital

By ROBERT J. PREW

LONDON, Jan. 18.—"These London cabarets are rather dreary," was the verdict of Mrs. Irving Berlin after visiting the famous night clubs of the West End.

Attired in simplest style and wearing scarcely any gems, the former Ellin/Mackay surprised curious Londoners by the complete absence of any suggestion of ostentatious smartness. According to her friends, Mrs. Berlin believes that New York cabarets are infinitely more peppy than those of Mayfair, but she also confesses that unattached flappers really get the best "kick" out of the gay night life, while a devoted bride, dancing always with friend husband, is apt to find the entertainment dull.

The visit of the Berlins to London will be curtailed to enable the couple to test the Paris night life and give Mrs. Berlin an early opportunity for restocking her wardrobe with the spring fashions which are about to come on the markets.

Among the people the Berlins have met at the night clubs are Lord Derby, Lord Vendersee, Sir Harry McGowan, Lady Sanford, Gilbert Miller, Jack Rumsey, Dorothy Dickson, Joe Coyne, Fallulah Bankhead, Rudolph Valentino and Henri Letellier, famous French millionaire and beauty expert.

Fire Chief W. P. Cooper protested the building saying it would be an added fire hazard. It was also pointed out that the granting of a permit for such a structure would be in violation of the State Building Code.

Blease Introduces Bill Following Vitrolic Address

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Following up his vitrolic speech of a few days ago in which he charged foreign diplomats in Washington of feeding liquor to American women, Senator Cole Blease of South Carolina, today introduced a bill stripping all diplomats of "diplomatic immunity" under the prohibition act.

The bill also would make the American criminal code applicable to embassy, legations and consular offices the same as it is to American homes.

Further it would make it a felony for a civil police or court official to refuse to enforce American laws against diplomatic representatives.

In his speech Senator Blease announced that he intends doing all in his power to "remedy a situation which permits foreigners to drink all they desire and make it a crime for a poor man to take a drink."

FAY LANPHIER MAY ACCEPT A STAGE OFFER

OAKLAND, Jan. 18.—Beauty in distress, in these modern days is no more without brave knights than in the olden days, according to Fay Lanphier, selected "America" at the 1925 Atlantic City beauty contest and now in a new role as defendant in a suit filed here by Lou's Jacobs, who charges the fair Oakland maid with breach of contract.

Miss Lanphier, who will leave here on the Overland Limited tomorrow for Chicago and New York, revealed today that since Jacobs filed suit here last week charging that she broke a contract by which he was to be her manager and share equally in all profit accruing from her selection as "Miss America," scores of her friends have volunteered to aid her.

Among offers is one from Leon Gordon, author of the stage success "White Cargo" offering her a part on the speaking stage in New York in "Trade Winds."

I shall study the manuscript in New York," the beauty said, "and if it suits me I shall go on the stage and show these people who have scoffed and said I was beautiful, but dumb, that I have the intelligence to do good acting."

Widening of San Pablo Avenue Is To Be Taken Up

consideration by El Cerrito for some time on the widening project. He states that El Cerrito as well as San Pablo was planning to follow out the new 1925 act which permitted a city to pay part of the expenses while the state highway department also paid a portion of the cost of paving.

Hoffman declared that the problem of the street car line which runs from Macdonald Avenue to Alvarado Park had been tentatively settled in that engineers of the street car company had agreed to put the street car line in the center of the street "where it rightfully belonged."

According to Hoffman engineer Skaggs of the State Highway Department is in sympathy with the plans of the widening of the street.

Will Continue Fight Attorney Hall Declares

mission would not reverse its decision on the increase in pay and shorter hours granted to the platform men. The communication also asked that efforts be taken to bring back the old conditions of the platform men through a cut in the rates, he declared.

In discussing the letter, Mayor Scott pointed out that he believed that the action of the Richmond city council in fighting the three fare rates had been misunderstood. He pointed out that it was far from the minds of the council to bring back old conditions of 1 hour or pay for the platform men. "All we want is a rate that will be on a par with that allowed in Alameda county so that we can ride the same distance on the same fare that they do," Scott stated. "We don't want the street car men to work for less money or do more work than we do."

City Attorney Hall concurred in the opinion expressed by Scott and pointed out that many things entered into the fixing of the rate beside the salary of the platform men.

"Our fight," said Hall, "is directed mainly against the poor equipment and inferior service which we are getting in Richmond. Many questions enter into the reasons for the fare increase such as depreciation, investment in equipment and the capital invested. We are fighting so that we will not be required to pay more per mile than they do in other sections."

Hall was in San Francisco yesterday and attended the hearing of the Railroad Commission of the petition filed by the Southern Pacific company for increased fares which was granted to the Key System company last week.

The rates which would effect a change if granted as asked by the Southern Pacific company would make a single ride to San Francisco on the steam train would cost 42 cents and a monthly commutation book $6.50.

Miss Jensen at Martinez Meet

A dinner was held at the hotel Scott at Martinez last night by the members of the Retailers' Credit association of Contra Costa county. The principal speakers of the evening were L. E. Sherman, president of the California State Association of the Retail Credit Bureau and R. C. Bitterman, president of the Alameda County Retail Credit association.

Richmond was represented by Marge Macdonald Jensen, secretary of the Richmond Credit Bureau. George P. Keller, president of the association, was in charge of the meeting.

Ex-Show Girl, Husband She Remarried After Acquittal As Slayer, and Wealthy Man Who Was Murdered

Recorders Report Shows Big Strides Made in County

County Recorder Irene F. Hurley announced the growth of Contra Costa County during the past half century and particularly the rapid strides which have been taken in the past fifteen years in the report that was filed with the Board of Supervisors Monday.

The report which was filed by Mrs. Hurley after arduous searching of records is complete to the most minute detail and is the most comprehensive ever filed by a recorder of this county. It shows the tremendous increase in documents filed and the swelling of the fees collected for such filings.

Mrs. Hurley's report is as follows for the semi-annual report of fees collected and paid from July 1, 1925 to January 1, 1926.

July	1,647.25
August	1,535.25
September	1,649.25
October	1,903.50
November	1,551.00
December	1,723.15
Total	$10,012.40

The above increase for the year 1925-1926 becomes the more notable when it is understood that the receipts for 1924-1925 were then largest ever collected by this department.

The recording and filing fees were recorded as shown below during the twelve months of the fiscal year 1924-1925.

July, 1924	1,231.25	1,231.25
August, 1924	1,315.25	1,315.25
September, 1924	1,362.00	1,362.00
October, 1924	1,495.25	1,495.25
November, 1924	1,531.25	1,531.25
December, 1924	1,501.00	1,501.00
Six Months	$7,911.00
January, 1925	1,395.00
February, 1925	1,372.50
March, 1925	1,528.50
April, 1925	1,611.00
May, 1925	1,561.50
June, 1925	1,610.15
Six Months	$9,116.00

It is interesting to note that the last six months of the year 1925 exceeds the entire fee of the year 1924 by $2,011.10. The receipts from filing and recording documents were $17,117.00. The total paid for salaries was fixed at $15,540.75. Special attention is directed to the increase in the recording for the year following 1916. In this period the number of documents filed and recorded increased from 5,546 in the fiscal year 1916-17 to 11,839 in 1924-25.

College, to visit all the countries in the northern hemisphere and to circle the world.

In March 1917, Mitchell, then a Major, went to Spain. On April 6th, when war was declared he was in Toledo. Immediately he proceeded to Paris and two days later joined General Pettin at the front being the first regular American officer to participate in an attack on the French, as well as the first to cross the German lines in an airplane and the first to be decorated with the War Cross for duty on the field of battle.

General Mitchell successively held all the positions in our air service until he commanded all the American Air forces in Europe, and also commanded the joint American, French, British and Italian units during certain parts of our operations. When the question of the co-ordination of the Allied services for the 1919 campaign came up, it was tentatively decided that the French should command the land troops, the British the sea forces and the Americans the air forces of all the Allies. General Mitchell would have been chosen as the leader of the air forces of the Allies had the war continued.

"Since the war Mitchell served as director of military aviation and assistant chief of the Air Service with the rank of Brigadier-General. In June, 1925, he was returned to his permanent rank of Colonel and was sent to Texas on account of his outspoken criticism of our military policy in general and our aeronautical policy in particular.

"William Mitchell has always been a pioneer, and in aeronautics a good deal of a prophet. It is not necessary to repeat any of the facts or circumstances leading up to his recent trial and conviction for expressing his honest views and convictions. The recommendation of the

Southern Pacific Building Tracks On Inner Harbor

Work is under way on the freight yards and storage tracks which are being put in by the Southern Pacific company on the land it owns next to the edge of the inner harbor. The work being done at present is that of constructing a spur from a point near a piece of land close to Stege, extending along the Southern Pacific main line right of way to the swamp acreage. This land adjoins the piece owned by the Dupont people, which includes St. Isabel.

A considerable fill will be required for the area to be occupied by the storage tracks. The land would be reached by the deep water of the Stege extension of the inner harbor at any time the dredging of the harbor might be extended to Pt. Isabel.

Investors Warned Against Worthless Stock Promotions

This is the time of the year that plausible individuals begin taking an active interest in the other fellow's bank account. The "high pressure" gentry engaged in vending golden promises often succeed in persuading hard-earned money from the pass books of the unwary. The less impetuous person consults with his banker before closing any financial undertakings with which he is not fully familiar.

The Mercantile Securities Company of California, affiliated with the Mercantile Trust Company of California, will be glad to advise, without any obligation on your part, concerning your present or future investment requirements. Meanwhile, turn a deaf ear to promotions that offer extravagant returns.

Chicago Finds Bus Best Adapted for Traffic

is 7 cents. Elevated fares is three rides for a quarter.

The upward curve of motor bus passenger traffic in Chicago has been remarkable.

The percentage of increase in its business is advancing at a much more rapid rate than the percentage of increase of the other two transportation agencies.

In spite of its newness, motor bus transportation in Chicago is not an experimental novelty. It is one of the recognized and necessary forms of transportation there.

The majority of the coaches are of the double deck type, seating 68 passengers. A seat is always provided for every passenger.

One reason for the unmistakable popularity of motor bus transportation in Chicago is the safety factor it affords.

Traffic hazards on Chicago's crowded streets and boulevards are tremendous. It is an odd contrast to see passengers boarding or leaving a bus stopped at the curb, and to see other people boarding or leaving a street car in the middle of the street, imperiling their lives as they do so.

Because of its increased safety, the motor bus in Chicago does a huge annual business in the transportation of school children to and from school.

In Chicago buses do not as a rule operate in the same streets with street cars. They meet in great part a separate transportation need. In the loop, or business district, however, the motor bus operates side by side with trolley cars.

They operate on a permit from the Illinois commerce commission because they have been adjudged a "public necessity and convenience."

In Chicago the motor buses are the only means of scheduled transportation on the vast system of boulevards and in the parks; on streets where traffic is not heavy enough to support a rail line; on streets in congested areas where surface cars cannot operate with safety or convenience.

The motor buses, being heated in winter and affording an abundance of fresh air in summer, are also used for pleasure riding and sight seeing.

Most important of all from the local standpoint, they are beginning now to be used in limited stop express service. Express buses run around the local buses, and then return to the normal path of travel.

Some objection was met from drivers of private cars when fast non-stop buses first began to pass the local buses in narrower streets, but that objection is dying out now. The bus drivers are all skilled, and it is part of their job to be courteous to other drivers.

There are very few bus accidents. It is generally conceded by traction engineers in Chicago, Boston and New York that the modern double deck motor bus is the most effective city transportation vehicle yet devised from the standpoint of eliminating congestion.

This type of motor bus seats 68 passengers. The average rush hour standing load of the average street car is 110.

The 68 passenger bus used in Chicago is 29 feet, 6 inches long. The average street car in Chicago is 48 feet long.

There are 3417 street cars in Chicago. I they were placed end to end they would cover a distance of 164,016 feet.

The length of the 4700 buses that would be required to do the work of those street cars would be 135,650 feet.

BUSES, WITH THE SAME CARLOADING CAPACITY AND WITH EVERY PASSENGER SEATED, WOULD OCCUPY 15 PERCENT LESS LINEAL STREET SPACE.

In addition to this they would not be obstructing other traffic by stopping in the middle of the street and holding back all traffic behind them.

The car that put the War in Warren

JIM WARREN bought a car—the "Gingerbread Six."

Never heard of it before, but he happened to be walking along Automobile Row and during a lapse moment his foot slipped—he stepped inside.

"Nifty boat", said the salesman.

"Not bad," said Jim, as paint and doo-dabs got in their hypnotic work.

"But why isn't it advertised?" asked Jim.

"Don't need to advertise a job like that," was the forearmed reply. Sounded logical. But—

Six months later Jim had a collection of bolts and grease-cups and broken springs and disjointed steering mechanism and a motor that almost ran.

"Never again!" said Jim. "The car that's little known and never advertised hasn't much responsibility; little to live up to. Before I buy another car—or anything—I'm going to get the facts. I'm going to read the advertisements about automobiles—or whatever I'm buying."

Advertisements are an invaluable guide to intelligent buying. Read them regularly
